I travel the West looking for large natural landscapes depicting the breath taking qualities of our finest spaces.

For over 26 years I have hiked thousands of miles, explored the ridge lines and peaks of the West and oared white water boats through the finest mountain rivers, just to find these places.

My work is dependant on digital technologies that have emerged in the last ten years. Some of my images reach 90 inches long. Most images are over 40 inches in one dimension.

The large format images are composite images which contain the pixels of several images. This gives them extraordinary detail throughout the image.

Viewing them is a sheer pleasure and provides the opportunity to study the landscape and examine it in a way previously not possible. In this way, the detail of these images exceeds the density of a 4 x 5 camera.

My small format images capture the classic shots of the West as well as new landscapes tucked away in the far corners of remote mountain ranges and desert canyons.

Mountain Studios Publishing Company.

I founded this company in 1995 to publish music theory books for guitar that I write and sell all over the world, including some of the finest guitar shops anywhere. More info at www.uncletim.com.

In 2001 I added fine art photography. In addition Mountain Studios offers a web publishing and e-commerce consulting service.

Unique images and western classics. Images are available at any size. We offer complete custom framing and a variety of matting and presentation options. All of these images and many more will be available at full size at Open Studios 2008.

I will discuss any digital process that we use and illustrate all of my processes including digital image development using a variety of raw converters and photo stitching.
